

RECOVERY FRIENDLY CARE PRACTICES

CLINICAL SCIENCE OF ADDICTION

MONDAY 12/10/18
4-5 PM
AUD F

Seddon Savage MD, MS, is a clinician, educator, and advocate in the fields of addiction medicine and pain medicine. Addiction impacts the brain both short-term and long-term which can lead to changes in the way individuals with addiction behave, react, and experience the environment around them. Understanding these changes can help us address the disease of addiction more effectively.

TRAUMA INFORMED CARE

MONDAY 1/7/19
4-5 PM
FULLER BOARD ROOM

Erin Barnett, PhD is an Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and The Dartmouth Institute who will present on foundations in understanding child trauma, its impact on children and families, and approaches to providing trauma-informed care that supports understanding, healing, and coping while building resilience.

DE-STIGMATIZING APPROACHES

MONDAY 2/11/19
4-5 PM
AUD A

Teri LaRock MSW, LICSW: Clinical Program Director at Mom's in Recovery
Cheri Breyer, CRSW: Recovery Coach at Mom's in Recovery
Families in recovery and with addiction often feel stigmatized, making change difficult. If we can re-frame how we approach families who have various social vulnerabilities, then we can support them with care and compassion, strengthening their support and meeting various needs to improve health.

Clinical Science of Addiction – Seddon Savage, MD, MS: Play recording

Trauma-Informed Care – Erin Barnett, PhD: Play recording

De-Stigmatizing Approaches – Teri LaRock, MSW, LICSW & Cheri Bryer, CRSW:
<https://dhvideo.webex.com/recordingservice/sites/dhvideo/recording/playback/89ff05a49d734e58b95c86c97dde72e5>

